Welcome to Houston and TSCA 2023!

I am thrilled that you have been able to join us here in Houston.

While trying to decide on a theme, my mind was consistently drawn to images of natural beauty. I am personally rejuvenated when I'm amongst the trees, hiking through meadows, or enjoying the splendor of an alpine lake. It is in those quiet moments, surrounded by nature's magnificence that I feel most refreshed. Through those times I have come to believe that many are inspired by nature because it is in those settings that we are most fully enveloped in a canopy of wonder; we are surrounded by things that grow. Forests are replete with magnificent, growing trees. As we draw close to the mountains they loom over the landscape and fill our minds with admiration and awe. As educators, growth in our teaching practices and growth in our talents will inspire awe in others as well.

Growth in the current educational climate is not always easy. Demands on educators seem to multiply while respect for the profession consistently declines. However, it is my firm conviction that it is precisely these pressures that necessitate a renewed attention on growth, both as individual education professionals, and as an united organization. Perhaps now more than ever we are in need of a time to grow.

To the end of promoting individual growth, I want to encourage you to take full advantage of all that is offered in the program. Attend sessions, business meetings, interest group meetings, and district meetings. Use these opportunities in the schedule to make connections, to improve your pedagogy, and to grow. Within this organization exists a depth of knowledge, experience, and expertise that is astounding to behold. As you make connections, as you learn from others I have no doubt you will leave this conference rejuvenated.

TSCA is committed to being an organization that advocates for the reinvigoration of speech education and a rethroning of the importance of communication skills. To that end, we have committed to fostering relations with the SBOE, to seeking advice on legal issues that impact our educators and to providing education and growth opportunities. This commitment is much more likely to succeed as we marshal the full strength and talent of our membership. It is our goal and manifest purpose to help educators thrive. Get involved. Our organization is stronger when we have the full strength of involved, enthusiastic members.

Ryan Lovell
TSCA President

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Welcome to Houston!

On behalf of the Executive Committee of the Texas Speech Communication Association, we are thrilled to welcome the TSCA membership to Houston for the 2023 Convention.

This year's theme, selected by President Ryan Lovell, is "A Time to Grow." There could be no more fitting theme for this moment in time, as we observe our members and their programs struggle to re-grow communication programs at every level and in every subdiscipline of communication. The last few years have brought challenges to us. We are still emerging from a global pandemic and are witnessing political polarization that is changing the educational landscape almost daily. How we continue to grow through those challenges is at the heart of this year's theme.

I wish to send a heartfelt thank you to all of the interest group leaders and individual members who have helped to craft the programming for this year's convention. You will notice that there are fewer blocks of time allocated for panels, which allows us to grow back the necessary time needed to conduct both district and interest group meetings.

For those of you that are new to TSCA, welcome! Be sure to pick up your ribbon at registration that indicates you are a new member. Please join us at the new member orientation on Thursday at 3:30pm where you can learn more about TSCA. You will also have the chance to connect with TSCA officers.

Thank you to TSCA President Ryan Lovell for his leadership through the past year. I have seldom encountered someone as gifted as he has been at managing the complex organization that is TSCA. Additional thanks to Michael Merritte and our host district for their hospitality and the work they have put in to make this comfortable and welcoming space. In particular, M'Liss Hindman, our convention coordinator, has put in a dizzying array of work coordinating with the host hotel. If you see her, say thank you. Few people can manage the difficulties of a hotel arrangement as well as her.

For next year's convention, I have selected Leadership as the theme. This will be an opportunity for our organization to document the connection between speech, debate, and the communication discipline in general to fostering new leaders among our students, and to consider the ways in which our organization can revitalize and reinvigorate our own leadership. But until then, let us focus on growth and the way we intertwine with each other. Enjoy Houston!

Randy Cox

TSCA Vice-President

Region 4 Extends a heartfelt welcome to Texas Speech Communication Association. Welcome to the largest city in the Lone Star State and the fourth largest in America. Home of the Johnson Space Center, Mission Control for our country's first manned Moon landing. Houston, we do not have a problem! Presently, Space Center Houston provides unprecedented access to National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) facilities where astronauts work and train.

Also, home to renowned academic universities including Ivy League of the south Rice University, newest member of the Big Twelve Conference University of Houston, and Texas Southern— one of the largest historically black universities in the nation— along with several other outstanding institutions of higher learning. Proud to be home to leading industry certifying Junior Colleges and Trade-Technical schools, the Bayou City is equipping graduates for the challenging artificial (AI) intelligence workplace of the future.

And, I can't leave out the city's professional sports teams, the NFL Houston Texans, the Houston Rockets, and boasting 2017 and 2022 World Series Champions Houston.

More importantly, a warm welcome is extended from the vast span of our region's 48 school districts, 41 Open Enrollment Charter Schools, and the eight county area including the breezy, sandy shores of historic Galveston Island, the original home of Juneteenth. Our region's diverse geographical landscape and varied cultural diaspora invites you to return to southeast Texas and the scenic gulf coast in the near future to enrich yourself in the undiscovered treasures that are native to our beloved region of the state.

Finally, with sooooo much to say and do...with sooooo little time during our annual three-day gathering, please find time to enjoy immediate offerings of a first-class indoor ice-skating rink, exquisite shopping featuring premier name brand and exclusive designer stores and delectable fine and casual dining in the surrounding Galleria area.

Indeed, A Time to Grow!

Michael Merritte

Call for Manuscripts and Teaching Activities

Texas Speech Communication Journal

Volume 48, Issue 1

Call for Manuscripts

The Texas Speech Communication Journal issues a call for papers that focus on research in human communication. Contributors may approach topics from multiple perspectives, contexts, and methodologies supported within the discipline. Manuscripts should be received no later than December 31, 2023. Texas Speech Communication Journal (TSCJ) follows a policy of blind review so no author identification should appear in the abstract and body of the manuscript.

Manuscripts should not exceed 30 pages, including references and figures, and should be written according to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7th edition). The manuscript should be emailed to the editor at the address listed below divided into the following two (Microsoft Word) documents:

1. Title Page - should include the author's name(s), academic position, institutional affiliation, full mailing address, telephone number, email address, brief author biography, and a history of the manuscript (presentation at conferences).

Title page should also indicate the following:

- A. Methodology/Analysis Technique: (include all that apply) Content Analysis Ethnography Qualitative analysis Quantitative analysis Rhetorical criticism
- B. Communication Context (keywords that describe your manuscript's area of study)

2. Abstract and Manuscript - An abstract of not more than 150 words should accompany the manuscript. The author should also include keywords for the articles. No author identification should appear in this document. Incomplete manuscripts will be automatically rejected. Include all tables, graphs, appendices, etc...

Call for Teaching Activities

A portion of Volume 48, Issue 1 of the Texas Speech Communication Journal will be dedicated to highlighting selected teaching activities in the context of speech and communication courses. Submissions can include activities used to teach speech and communication at the middle school, high school, or college and university levels. Teaching activity submissions will follow a blind review process much like the one for original research.

Submissions for teaching activities should include:

- A. Title page - should include the author's name(s), academic position, institutional affiliation, full mailing address, telephone number, email address, brief author biography, communication context of the activity (what concept does the activity reinforce?), and the academic level of the activity (freshmen-level college public speaking courses, high school communication course, or a graduate-level rhetoric course, for example).
- B. Teaching Activity –include an introduction of the activity, communication context, academic level, and synopsis of activity. Teaching activities submissions should not exceed 5 pages including references and figures.

The Texas Speech Communication Journal (TSCJ) is a state journal published by the Texas Speech Communication Association. The TSCJ produces one print issue per academic year, which seeks to publish original scholarship that makes a contribution to the studies of human communication. An external committee blind reviews all submissions. The journal has a 24% acceptance rate. Acceptance/Rejection Notices: Sent out early to mid April 2024.

Queries and manuscript submissions should be sent via email to:

TSCJ Editor, Amanda Jo Ratcliff, Ph.D.

TSCA Conference 2024

Call for Panels

Developing a New Generation of Leaders

An integral part of the communication discipline is the connection of high level skills in presentation and advocacy to the needs of new and emerging leaders. The 2024 convention will center around the theme of leadership as both a key component and key outcome of the communication disciplines.

From the advocacy, performance, and research skills developed in forensic activities and the acquisition of presentation skills in the classroom to the study of ways the humans interact and understand each other, there is no academic discipline that is as important in developing leadership as communication.

We invite panel ideas, discussions, presented papers, and general business connected to the development of leadership, with the goal of documenting the impact of speech communication education on leadership development and generating best practices and new ideas.

Join us by sharing your research and ideas at the 2024 TSCA Conference in Amarillo, TX, October 10-12, 2024 at the Embassy Suites Amarillo.

Send program questions and comments to: Rory McKenzie, mckenziera@lisdeagles.net

Submit panels through your Interest Group Chairperson OR via Rory McKenzie.

A complete call for papers/panels will be available online at www.etsca.com

Deadline for Initial Program Panel Submissions:

A-05 Room: WestheimerBook Talk: Communication Essentials

Sponsor: Interpersonal/Organizational Communication

Coordinator: Susanna Alford, University of the Incarnate Word

Chair: Susanna Alford, University of the Incarnate Word

Description: In 2022, McGraw-Hill published a business essential series. The first book in the series, Communication Essentials, was authored by Trey Guinn, a member of TSCA and professor at University of the Incarnate Word in San Antonio, Texas.

In this workshop and discussion, Dr. Guinn will offer fresh insights and popular concepts from his book and how to teach them effectively. Additionally, he will facilitate conversation and field questions regarding the book material, authorship, publication process, etc.

About the book (from the publisher): No matter how great your knowledge, expertise or experience, poor communication skills undermine your ability to get your message across, achieve your objectives, and build crucial relationships. To advance your career—and succeed in other aspects of life, as well—building these skills is essential.

In Communication Essentials, expert Trey Guinn takes you step-by-step through the process of improvement, from understanding the importance of message clarity to specific, goal-based strategies to develop and maximize your skills.

In Part I: The Essentials, he covers the fundamentals, from why and how we communicate and what effective communication looks like to how it can all go wrong. In Part II: The Essentials Applied, he provides practical advice on identifying goals, owning your message, and anticipating how your audience will perceive you, the messenger. Finally, in Part III: Beyond the Essentials, you'll find practical tips to help you communicate your way into a job, improve your digital communication, work through difficult conversations, and much more.

Packed with insights, anecdotes, exercises, and Essential Takeaways to wrap up each chapter, Communication Essentials ensures you'll walk away feeling fully equipped and prepared to put your skills into action right away.

Presenters:

Trey Guinn, University of the Incarnate Word

Convention Luncheon

Friday, 12:00 pm

in Ballroom A&B

The luncheon will Feature the 2023 Communicator of the Year

Denise Middleton

Denise Middleton is the weekend morning anchor and reporter at FOX 26 Houston. When she isn't covering breaking news or the top story of the day, she's working on in-depth stories through FOX 26 in Focus, which is a year long campaign that highlights important topics of concern in the greater Houston area. She was first inspired to become a journalist growing up in Houston, watching local newscasters. She's a proud graduate of James Madison Senior High School and the University of Houston. Denise was a recipient of several local scholarship programs, such as the Evan E. Worthing Scholarship Fund, the Linda Lorelle Scholarship Fund and the Soul Patrol Scholarship Program, a program supported by former presidents George H.W. Bush and Bill Clinton. During her senior year of high school, she was chosen to deliver the keynote speech at a fundraising gala for Soul Patrol, with former president George H.W. Bush and former first lady Barbara Bush in attendance. It was then, that she gained the confidence to continue to pursue a career in broadcast journalism. Denise landed her first job as a general assignment reporter in Hastings, Nebraska. From there, she headed south to Shreveport, Louisiana, where she worked as a morning anchor and reporter. Denise continued her career in Little Rock, Arkansas as an evening anchor for five years. She helped lead team coverage of Arkansas' controversial executions of multiple inmates in 2017. She has also covered many natural disasters from tornados to winter storms throughout her career. Denise is a member of the National Association of Black Journalists. She also serves on the board of directors for the Linda Lorelle Scholarship Fund, that provides major college scholarships and support to Houston area students.

Adapting for Gifted & Talented Students

Sponsor: Multiple Instructional Levels

Coordinator: Heather Wallace, Borger High School

Chair: Heather Wallace, Borger High School

Description: Adapting to the needs of our gifted and talented students is vital to the continued success and commitment of these students. Understanding not only the areas of giftedness, but the Dabrowski tendencies and all things GT is key to unlocking students potential, avoiding the pitfalls of existential depression, and supporting every student individually for their success even if that means we grow a few grey hairs in the process.

Presenters:

Heather Wallace, Borger High School

B-05 Room: Westheimer

Making Strange Familiar: Theory in the HS Classroom

Sponsor: Rhetoric and Communication Theory
Coordinator: Zackery Carlock, Angelo State University
Chair: Zackery Carlock, Angelo State University

Description: If you teach Communication courses, this panel is for you. One of the best ways to improve results with students' communication skills is giving them an understanding of "why" and not just the "how". Teaching Communication Theory, even at its most basic level, can help students understand why we communicate the way we do, rather than just having them know how to communicate more effectively. Come listen to, and ask questions of, the panelists who have worked to implement theory into Debate, Public Speaking (especially Dual-Credit), and Professional Communication classrooms, at the High School levels.

Presenters:
 Zackery Carlock, Angelo State University
 Joshua Wimberly, Midland Legacy Senior HS
 Coby Evers, San Angelo Central HS

B-06 Room: Forum

Helping New Coaches Thrive: A Proposal for a Forensics Teaching and Learning Academy

Sponsor: Texas Intercollegiate Forensic Association
Coordinator: Jeremy Hutchins, Texas State University
Chair: Wayne Kraemer, Texas State University

Description: Inspired by programs used to help graduate students transition from student to lecturer in the college classroom, panelists will consider what an ideal program for training new forensics coaches might include. Elements such as curriculum, requirements, materials, and modality will be considered.

Presenters:
 Justin Blacklock, San Antonio College
 Hector Manriquez, Texas State University
 Mark Paz, Texas State University
 Sean Tiffie, Lone Star College - Tomball

B-08 Room: San Felipe A

Growing Together

Sponsor: Instructional Development in the Colleges & Universities
Coordinator: Trey Guinn, University of the Incarnate Word
Chair: Trey Guinn, University of the Incarnate Word

Description: While college faculty are notorious for operating in silos, there are numerous benefits to cultivating connections across campus and collaborating on curriculum with colleagues. Trey Guinn, professor and department chair from UIW, will host a panel and conversation about this very topic. Examples from the panel may include (1) Theatre Arts and Film working together to simultaneously develop aspiring actors abilities to “act for the camera” and aspiring directors/producers gaining access to better trained actors; (2) Speech collaborating with Convergent Media to help students gain ability as better speakers who also understand the art of visual storytelling. Following the panel discussion, all attending will be invited to have an open conversation about the potential high impact and benefits to student learning when faculty collaborate.

Presenters:
Trey Guinn, University of the Incarnate Word
Darlene Carbajal, University of the Incarnate Word
Theresa Coronado, University of the Incarnate Word

B-09 Room: San Felipe B

#UIWCOMM CARES: For Students, By Students

Sponsor: College and University Standing Committee
Coordinator: Justin Blacklock, San Antonio College
Chair: Trey Guinn, University of the Incarnate Word

Description: Data explains there is a decline of student enrollment across higher education. Considering the re-evaluation of enrollment programs and novel initiatives could lead us to discovering novel solutions to this problem. The need to study the impact of digital storytelling across social media platforms is imperative, as it could have implications on student enrollment. Variables to consider are the levels of satisfaction pertaining to departmental social media accounts, from the target audience.

Presenters:

The Value of Industry Certification

Sponsor: Local Arrangements

Coordinator: Randy Cox, University of Texas at Austin

Chair: Michael Merritte, Galveston Ball HS (ret)

Description: Skills have become the global currency of the 21st century economies! In fact, in many business publications and studies, the top three employment certification-related skills are, respectively – Communication (oral and written), Project Management, and Microsoft Office.

In a world where competition for jobs, pay increases, and academic success continues to increase, certifications offer hope because they are a credible, third-party assessment of one's skill and knowledge for a given subject.

Join Keith German with Certiport, a Pearson VUE company, to explore some of the key benefits of certification which include: validation of knowledge, increased marketability, increased earning power, enhanced academic performance, improved reputation, enhanced credibility, increased confidence and respect from peers. Keith will also introduce participants to Certiport's Communication Skills for Business (CSB) certification and related resources for implementation of this increasingly popular program.

FRIDAY—PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION AND AWARDS

Few people have given as much in service throughout their tenure leading to the TSCA Presidency as Ryan Lovell. Whether it be communication with the SBOE and advocating for curriculum improvements throughout the state, serving on panels for various interest groups, following the changes in state laws as they affect speech and debate, or the massive effort it takes to put together the convention programming, Ryan Lovell has served as a remarkable President of the Texas Speech Communication Association.

Join us as we celebrate Ryan Lovell at the President's Reception, Friday at 6:00 pm in the BLVD Room.

Educator of the Year and Service Awards will be presented

Practice Makes Perfect

Sponsor: Instructional Development in High Schools
Coordinator: Peter Dubrule, Coronado HS
Chair: Kyle Peterson, Coronado HS

Description: Communication teachers are frequently looking for ways to help students engage in new ways to practice and improve their presentations. This discussion will present a Phone/Tablet app, Pd-eyes, that will help the student practice and learn their speech. It provides feedback if the student is not looking at the audience. It will build on the students' confidence and help them transition from the on line active audience to a realistic audience that sits before them. The discussion will show how the App is used to help the presenter keep their eyes on their audience all while practicing their speech and while having fun with the game. This game allows them to build confidence through practice.

SPECIAL THANKS

UT National Institute in Forensics

Coming again for Summer 2024!

University of Texas National Institute in Forensics

Thank you to all of the students and coaches who joined us this past summer for the 30th Annual UT National Institute in Forensics. The UTNIF continues to be one of the largest and most accomplished summer forensics programs in the country. Just a few reasons why our students keep coming back year after year: incomparable education, superior resources, unmatched faculty, reasonable rates, tremendous alumni, and the background of the University of Texas at Austin.

www.utspeech.net
www.utdebatecamp.com

Success in any academic activity is a product of excellent and immensely talented students, incredibly hard working coaches, supportive parents and schools, and an investment in time that may include summer opportunities. It is that understanding that makes UTNIF one of the largest comprehensive institutes in the country year after year, and why we have assembled some of the brightest forensic minds in the nation for our program. It is also that educational philosophy that has enabled alumni of our summer programs to succeed at every level, from high school and well into collegiate forensics competition. UTNIF is the place to get your head start on the season.

Passion... Elegance... Excellence

As we move into our 4th decade of the UTNIF, we also welcome the new Director of Individual Events Eva Margarita, who will take over for UTNIF 2024 and serve as the new Director of Texas Speech in the Fall of 2024. Having already served as the Assistant Director of Texas Speech for the past three years while completing her doctoral program, soon to be Dr. Margarita is both a fantastic person and an amazing educator.
